

STOP THE WAR ON MIGRANTS

.noblogs.org

TU Delft has been cooperating with Thales, and Airbus on research and development of advanced military technology, such as radar systems and composites for military aircraft. Their products are being used in warzones and in securing the European borders. Both companies are taking part in the upcoming career fair in TU Delft. They aim to promote their job and attract engineer students to work for them.

We will protest against the cooperation between universities and companies which profit from war and migration.

We will be loud, we will be visible, and we will be there! to uncover their dirty business.

Preparation meeting:

FEB 17th, @13:00 in Nieuwland

Pieter Nieuwlandstraat 93, 1093XN

Come for an overview of the action plan and find out how you can get involved.
